

the maneuver is bit-identical before and after the correction, so the outcome change is attributable to the launch decision alone